WHY RENÉE

Renée Marino helps leaders and teams communicate with greater presence, authenticity, and connection in a time when conversations have become increasingly distracted, reactive, and surface-level. Drawing from her experience on Broadway, in film, and through her CONNECT Method, Renée helps audiences turn simple yet often overlooked communication practices into deeper trust, stronger relationships, and more meaningful human connection.

SPEAKER SUMMARY

Opportunities that shape our lives and careers are often waiting on the other side of one honest conversation, one clear ask, one fully present moment of connection.

Renée Marino helps audiences understand that communication is not simply a skill — it is the bridge between who we are and the opportunities, relationships, leadership moments, and impact we hope to create. In a world increasingly shaped by distraction, disconnection, and digital noise, her message reminds people that authentic human connection is still at the heart of trust, influence, leadership, and opportunity.

Best known for her work on Broadway and in the film adaptation of Jersey Boys directed by Clint Eastwood, Renée has spent more than 30 years studying and embodying the art of communication on some of the world's biggest stages. After a career that included five Broadway shows, a major motion picture, and television appearances, she shifted her focus toward understanding how internal and external communication shape human connection, trust, and the way people experience one another.

That exploration became the foundation of her signature C.O.N.N.E.C.T. Method and the deeper message she now brings to leaders, teams, and organizations: people may hear your words, but they connect to your presence.

Blending stage presence, emotional intelligence, vulnerability, and practical communication tools, Renée helps audiences strengthen trust, communicate with greater clarity, listen more deeply, and create more meaningful connections.

As a speaker, Renée has opened at Madison Square Garden for the Aspire Tour, hosted Tony Robbins' Time to Rise Summit, and shared the stage with leaders including David Goggins, Lewis Howes, Alex Rodriguez, Codie Sanchez, and Martha Stewart.

SIGNATURE KEYNOTE #1

Human Connection in A Digital Age

The Bridge Between You and Every Opportunity

In today's distracted and increasingly disconnected world, many people are talking — but very few are truly connecting. Conversations have become reactive, listening has become transactional, and too many opportunities are missed because people struggle to communicate with confidence, clarity, and genuine presence.

In this engaging and highly interactive keynote, Broadway and film performer Renée Marino shares the communication practices that helped shape her career and now help leaders, teams, and organizations create deeper trust, stronger relationships, and more meaningful connections in every area of life and work.

Through stories, practical tools, audience interaction, and her signature C.O.N.N.E.C.T. Method, Renée helps audiences understand that communication is not about perfection or performance — it is about learning how to fully listen, connect authentically, communicate clearly, and create conversations that leave lasting impact.

Audiences leave with actionable strategies to communicate more effectively in high-stakes moments, strengthen collaboration, navigate difficult conversations with greater confidence, and create the kind of human connection that opens doors personally and professionally.

The Confidence Edge

How Taking Imperfect Action Makes You Unstoppable

Too many people spend years waiting to feel fully confident before they use their voice, take the leap, ask for the opportunity, or show up more boldly in their lives and careers. But true confidence rarely comes from having everything figured out. It grows when we become more connected to ourselves — trusting our voice, owning our story, and taking action before everything feels certain.

In this empowering and deeply relatable keynote, Broadway and film performer Renée Marino challenges the belief that perfection is the prerequisite for success, confidence, or visibility. Through honest storytelling, humor, audience interaction, and practical tools, she helps audiences move beyond self-doubt, overthinking, and fear of judgment so they can communicate more authentically, trust themselves more deeply, and create stronger connections in both their personal and professional lives.

Drawing from her journey navigating Broadway auditions, high-pressure performance environments, and moments of uncertainty, Renée shares how some of the most meaningful opportunities in life come from being willing to embrace discomfort, speak up before you feel fully ready, and show up authentically in the moments that matter most. Audiences leave with practical strategies to strengthen self-trust, quiet perfectionism, and take more aligned action with greater clarity, courage, and connection.

Tangible Takeaways

- How to Get Comfortable Being Uncomfortable and act before you feel ready
- The truth about how Confidence is Built Through Action, Not Perfection
- How to Speak Up To Seize Opportunities, even when fear creeps in
- Turning self-doubt into Self-Trust
- A powerful practice to own your story and Show Up Authentically

RENÉE'S BIO

Renée Marino is an international keynote speaker, communication and connection expert, Broadway and film performer, host, and best-selling author of Becoming a Master Communicator. Best known for her role as Mary Delgado in Clint Eastwood's Jersey Boys film and for performing in five Broadway musicals including Jersey Boys, Pretty Woman, West Side Story, and Chaplin, Renée has spent more than two decades mastering the art of authentic communication on some of the world's biggest stages.

Today, Renée brings those same communication and connection principles to organizations, leaders, and teams navigating a world increasingly shaped by distraction, digital overload, and surface-level interaction. Through her signature C.O.N.N.E.C.T. Method, she teaches audiences how to communicate with greater presence, confidence, clarity, and authenticity so they can build stronger relationships, deepen trust, and create meaningful opportunities in both work and life.

Growing up in a close-knit Italian-American family in New Jersey, Renée's earliest understanding of connection came from conversations around the kitchen table — a foundation that would later shape both her career and her mission. She often says that while talent opened doors, it was genuine human connection that ultimately changed the trajectory of her life and career.

Renée has shared the stage with leaders and personalities including Tony Robbins, Dean Graziosi, Mark Cuban, Magic Johnson, David Goggins, Martha Stewart, and Alex Rodriguez, and served as co-host of Tony Robbins and Dean Graziosi's World Summit. Her work has been featured in SUCCESS Magazine, Variety, Yahoo Finance, People.com, The Huffington Post, and PBS.

Known for her warmth, energy, humor, and deeply interactive style, Renée helps audiences reconnect with one of the most important skills in leadership and life: the ability to genuinely connect with another human being.

Because at the end of the day, people may hear your words. But they connect to your presence.
